

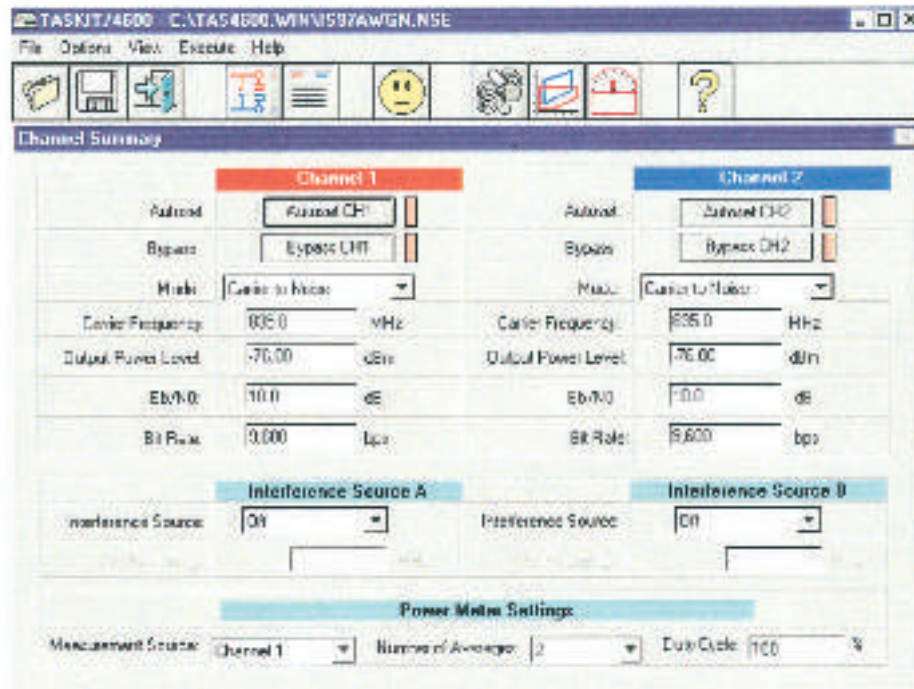

Figure 1

The Windows-based application software for the TAS 4600A noise and interference emulator provides graphical user control in addition to vendor-defined configurations.