

The Talisman architecture implements a radically different form of the 2-D/3-D rendering pipeline from that of traditional graphics devices.