

Highly integrated chip sets, such as the ST20-GP1 from STMicroelectronics, track orbiting satellites and provide precise location, velocity, and time.