

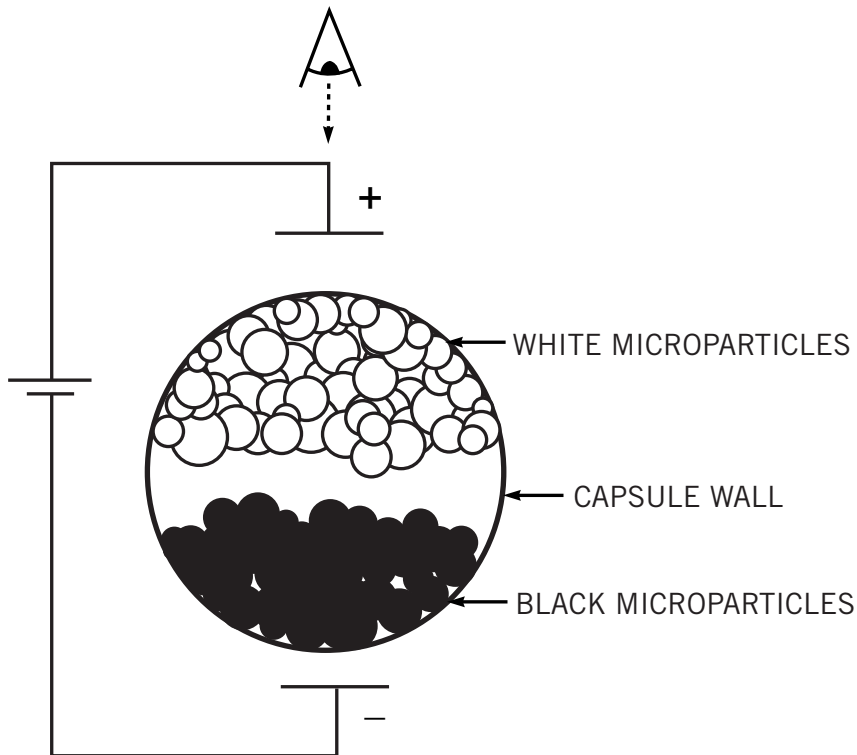

Figure 1

Application of a voltage causes a microcapsule to change color by moving pigment chips within the microcapsule toward a transparent electrode.