

Some middle-tier data-acquisition packages offer extensive 3-D surface-plotting capabilities. Capital Equipment Corp's TestPoint not only generates this display, but also controls the hardware that gathered the data; the display portrays that data.