

Figure 1

Enough overlap exists between the responsivity and emission curves to make a LED useful for both transmission and reception.