

An electronic circulator is useful for isolation and equalization.