

Twist the handle, and the bulge in the elastomer prevents anyone from removing it from the ac-line-cord receptacle, so your line-operated system stays off-limits to unauthorized users.