

A frequency-selective surface, created by printing patterns of inductors and capacitors on film, is the basis for these $9 \times 13 \times 2.2$ -mm ClearLink antennas from e-tenna, which work for 2.4-GHz Bluetooth and 802.11b applications.