

OEM production applications typically use valve-mounted sensors.