

The WaveLink D600 has bandwidth great enough to allow the manufacturer's 6-GHz scopes to display full bandwidth signals. It attenuates signals less than probes that have higher input resistance, thus improving the SNR of measurements on the low-amplitude signals typical of high-speed differential systems.