

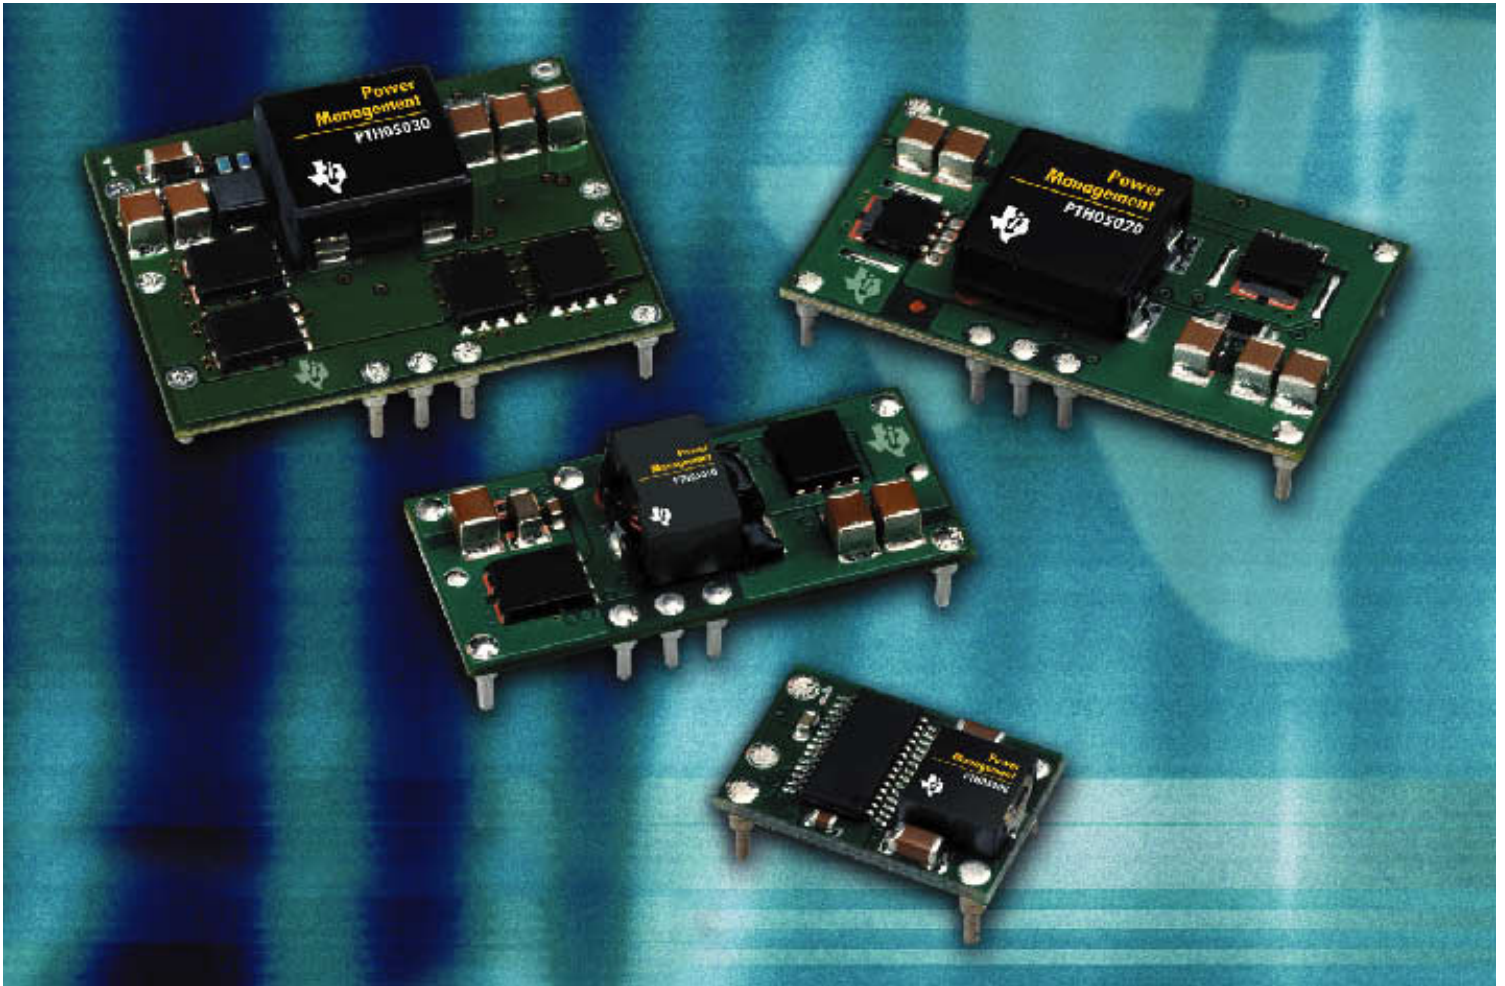

Figure 1

Although it is best known for its ICs, Texas Instruments also manufactures power modules. Advanced power-sequencing capabilities distinguish the PTHxx series of non-isolated POL converters, which TI expects to gain wide acceptance in systems that require multiple low-supply voltages.