

Figure B The time-mark generator output terminated into 50Ω produces a peaked waveform, which is optimal for verifying timebase calibration.