

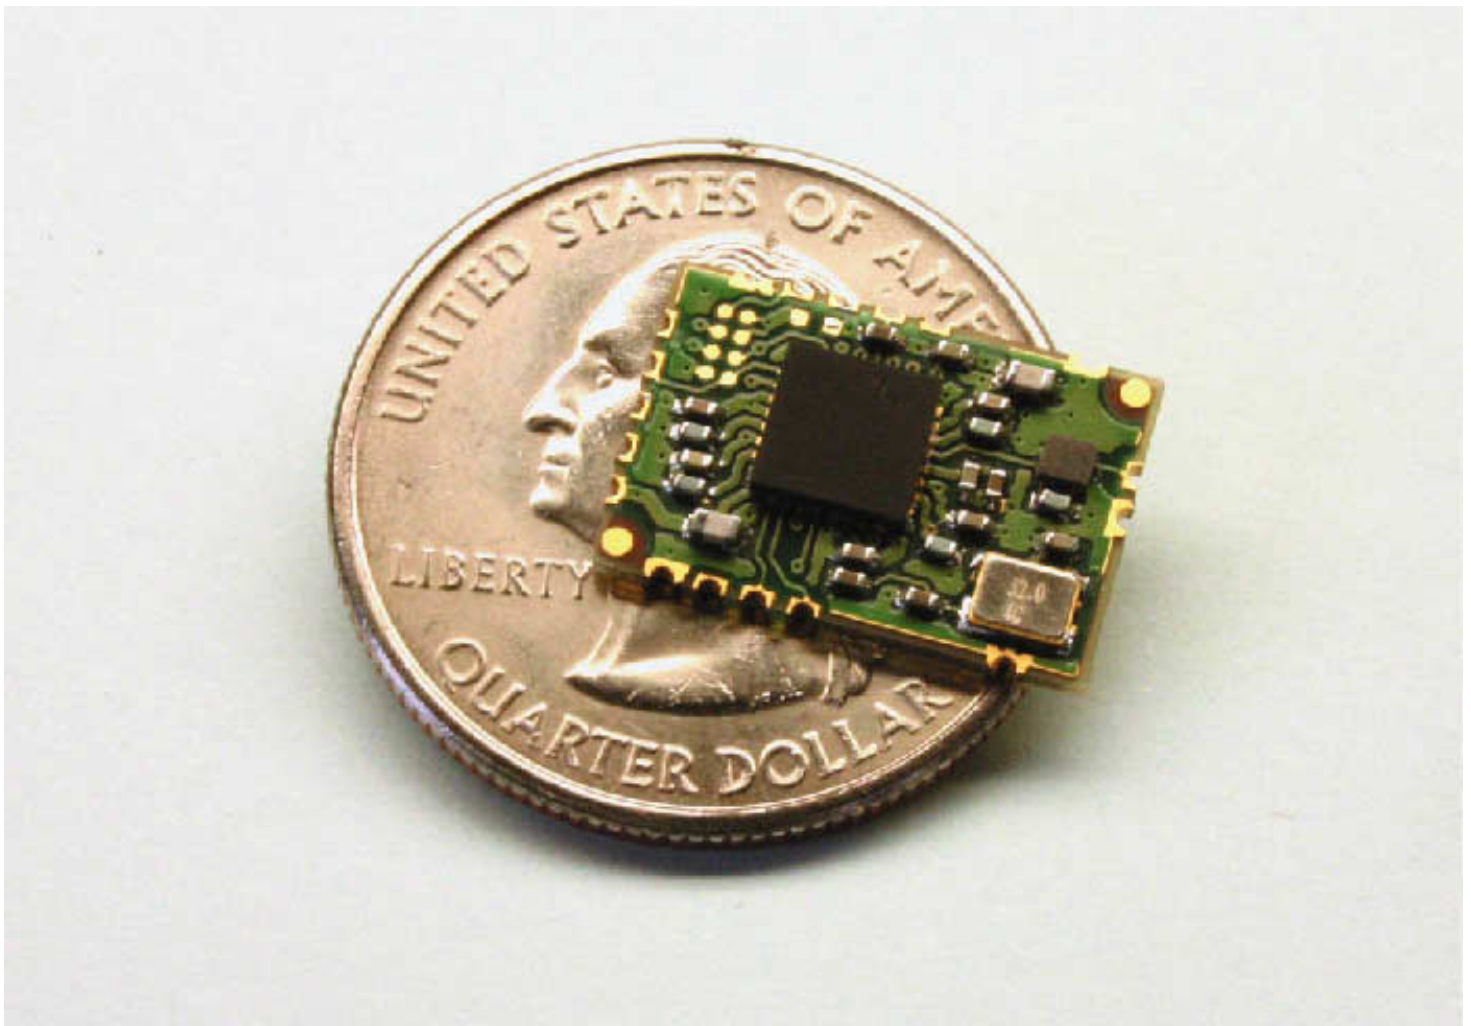

Figure 5

Even with new communications standards, proprietary, low-rate products, such as this Zensys transceiver, will continue to satisfy a large market segment.