

Figure 1

Data from space-based optical sensors reveal the uneven distribution of worldwide lightning strikes (courtesy NASA National Space Science and Technology Center Lightning Team).