

Figure 4

Testing ESD susceptibility to IEC 61000-4-2 requires a variable high-voltage source that charges a 150-pF capacitor through a large resistor, R_C . The standard allows for air-discharge and direct-contact testing. The switch allows the operator to choose the discharge mode. In either case, discharge is through a 330Ω resistor.