

Figure 2 The amount of human decision and intervention an autonomous system will need varies. As detection, planning, and decision software improves, these systems will be able to move more to the right of the spectrum of autonomy (courtesy JAUS).