

Figure 4 To generate a single photon with known quantum states, a laser's output stimulates a nonlinear crystal, which, in turn, generates twin photons with the same quantum states.

---