

Statistics show evaporating consumer investments in gaming hardware and software in Japan (a) and worldwide (b). Teenagers' interest in gaming is also decreasing (c), and a shrinking pool of US teenage customers (d) is a worrying wake-up call to console and content developers alike.