

Figure A A conceptual mapping shows how the sweet spots of processing architectures can complement each other to cover the range of an application's processing requirements (assistance from Gary Banta, chief executive officer of Stretch).
