

Figure 1 In a PON, an OLT (optical-line terminal) at the service provider connects to a fiber segment that is passively split, and the resultant fibers connect to either ONUs (optical-network units) or ONTs (optical-network terminals) at each subscriber premise.