

Figure 1 Performance-driven measurement instrumentation requires low-noise, high-bandwidth linear front-end circuits coupled to equivalent-performing A/D converters and clocking. It also requires a power supply, sometimes line-powered, as shown, but often a dc/dc converter.
