

Figure 12 The power-supply current in RF systems often returns over the coaxial-cable shield, causing circulating currents.
