

Figure 2 A feedback circuit consisting of a single-pole lowpass active filter and a Howland source diverts current from the phototransistor's base to avoid saturation at excessive background-light levels.