

Figure 3 Simulink from The MathWorks allows you to build a model of your system from a library of predefined blocks and evaluate system performance.