

Figure 2 The latest wave of machine-vision-control systems is appearing in automobiles, identifying objects such as nearby pedestrians to warn drivers of impending hazards (courtesy NEC).

---