

Figure A Vision systems that must measure colors and provide corrective feedback need to use a color space such as the CIE L-a-b, which describes color in human-perception terms (courtesy Edmund Optics).

---