

Figure 2 Electronic-paper displays employ an active-matrix backplane of printed transistors and conductors to produce portable electronic-reader products.
