

Figure 3 The register-abstraction layer isolates the upper layers of a verification environment and the test cases running on it from the implementation details of accessing the registers and memories in the design.

---