

Figure 3 When both the driver and the load have the same delay thresholds and both have equal timing, timing tools calculate the time difference between the driver's reaching 50% of its logic-high value and the load's reaching 50% of its logic-high value.

---