

Figure 4 The SEPIC (single-ended primary inductance converter) can buck or boost one positive voltage to another positive voltage. The capacitor in the power path prevents backflow from the output to the input.

---