

Figure 3 A typical setup problem you encounter when dealing with high-speed signals is accidentally connecting the differential probe backward.

---