

Figure 3 Pico-ITX represents the newest and smallest iteration of Via's embedded-system-board series (a). The company scored a major volume-design coup when HP in early April introduced the C7-based model 2133 Mini-Note PC (b). But will HP base its next iteration of the Mini-Note platform on the C7, Via's next-generation Isaiah CPU (c) or Intel's Atom?