

Figure 1 This circuit works by inhibiting movement in one direction but allowing movement in the other direction when the motor retracts from its end position.