

Figure 4 Using the design equations in the vendor's data sheets, you calculate the component values for gain (a) and phase (b); the simulator then validates the performance of the circuit, presenting it as an open-loop bode plot.

---