

Figure 2 Darlene JS Solomon of Agilent Labs says that efficiency requirements are driving designers to operate active components in nonlinear regions, making S-parameter measurements insufficient for adequately characterizing devices (courtesy Agilent Technologies).

---