

Figure 1 The human eye is sensitive to wavelengths of approximately 380 to 780 nm, peaking at approximately 555 nm. The wider red curve shows the sensitivity of a representative ambient-light sensor.

---