

Figure 2

The system CPU manages the scene, whereas rendering has over time migrated to dedicated graphics hardware. Either or both can handle portions of the geometry pipeline.