

Careful hardware and software partitioning, including reliance on the PC for most of the image processing, optimizes (e)film cost, battery life, and picture quality (courtesy Silicon Film Technologies).